Kicked to the Kerb

If love arrives will you step on the gas?

KICKED TO THE KERB, the dating show in which a single guy or girl looking for love will take a romantic cab ride to a mystery destination. Along the way they'll stop for four people who might be their perfect match. Those possible matches will have just a city block or two to make a big impression. But when the next passenger appears on the horizon our single will have to decide whether to wave their driver on... or invite their new passenger in and kick their current one to the curb.

The date that travelled the furthest distance will be given a choice. Either they can take a cash prize OR they can drive on to play a quiz challenge for the chance to win an awesome date.
